Liane moriarty the husband's secret ending

Review (Amazon): At the heart of The Husband's Secret is a letter that is not meant to be read... My darling Cecilia, if you're reading this, then I've died... Imagine your husband wrote you a letter, to be opened after his death. Imagine, too, that the letter contains his deepest, darkest secret—something with the potential to destroy not only the life you have built together, but the lives of others as well. And then imagine that you stumble across that letter while your husband is still very much alive... Cecilia Fitzpatrick has achieved it all—she's an incredibly successful businesswoman, a pillar of her small community, a devoted wife and mother. Her life is as orderly and spotless as her home. But that letter is about to change everything—and not just for her. There are other women who barely know Cecilia—or each other—but they, too, are about to feel the earth-shattering repercussions of her husband's secret. My Review (MAJOR SPOILERS!!!): Executive Summary: deeper than first glance This is our literary fiction for the year. It's a bit of a love story (stories?), a bit of a whodunnit, but mostly just a people drama. It's set in Australia, mostly Sydney, and it has multiple quickly intersecting stories. The "main" family that the book follows is perfect wife Cecilia and her husband John-Paul and their three children—Esther (a Berlin Wall enthusiast), Isabel and Polly (the outspoken beautiful youngster). One day, by accident, Cecilia finds a letter in her attic addressed "For my wife, Cecilia Fitzpatrick to be opened only in the event of my death". We're also introduced to Tess, her husband Will, her cousin Felicity, and her son Liam. Tess and Felicity have always been closer than sisters, and apparently even closer. After Felicity lost a ton of weight in the last year (after always being the fat girl), Will and Felicity fell in love. They announce to Tess who, understandably, freaks out and decides to take Liam back to Sydney (from Melbourne) to stay with her mother. Next chapter, we meet Rachel. Rachel is a widow, and her only son Rob brought her over to tell her that he, his wife Lauren, and their son Jacob were going to be moving to New York for a few years. Rachel is overwhelmingly devastated. She had had a daughter, Janie, who had been murdered many years earlier, and that pain had never healed. She feels like Jacob is all she has. Meanwhile she never really lets Rob or Lauren into her grief. We cut back to Cecilia who brings up the letter she found when she knocked over some boxes in their crowded attic to her husband who is on a business trip. She can tell that he is trying to sound nonchalant, but that there's more to it. The following day, the connection between the 3 stories makes sense. Tess goes with her mother, Lucy to drop Liam off at his new school. Cecilia's children go there as well, and Polly is in Liam's grade. Rachel is the school's secretary. While at the school, Tess also meets the gym teacher, Connor Whitby, a man who she dated years prior and who used to be an accountant. As soon as they meet, there's obvious sexual tension. Cecilia is going through all the things in her mind. She and John-Paul have not had sex in a year. Is he gay? Polly mentioned that Jean-Paul looks at Isabel strangely. Is he a pedophile? Esther saw him crying in the shower. Is he depressed? He tried to commit suicide once when he was younger...? She decides that she is in fact going to open the letter that evening after her Tupperware party she's hosting. She volunteers to drive Rachel home from the party (her first one she's attended) and arrives at home to find that John-Paul is home early. He asks her if she has opened it and she says no, but once he goes to bed, she opens it. SPOILER! Stop reading here if you intend to read the book!!! In the letter, John-Paul writes that he in fact is the person who killed Janie. They were secretly going out, not boyfriend/girlfriend, although that's what he wanted. One day, Janie meets him at the park to break it off and tell him that there's another boy who she's more interested in. He's furious and instead of being sympathetic, she laughs. He didn't mean to kill her. He just attacked her in rage and before he knew what he was doing, she was dead. The police never suspected him because they didn't know he was involved at all. He went to a different school, and Janie hadn't told anyone about him. John-Paul said that he would have confessed had anyone else been accused for the crime, but the only person of interest was Connor Whitby and he had an alibi. Welp. OK. So a) I figured out the secret ahead of time (because really what else could it be? there's only one unsolved mystery in the story) and b) now what?! The book to me got really dull after this because the letter was opened less than halfway through! So the book progresses that Tess begins sleeping with Connor, Rachel finds a video of Janie and Connor, and she turns it into the police as new evidence. She is convinced that Connor killed Janie and it just eats her alive seeing him at the school every day. Cecilia and John-Paul try to have a normal life, but Cecilia is having a lot of trouble keeping it together (at least to the perfect mom level she had previously). And then it's Good Friday. Apparently no one does anything at all on Good Friday in Australia except eat hot cross buns with lots of butter. (I thought hot cross buns were from a nursery rhyme and weren't really a thing any more.) So on Good Friday, Tess tells Connor that she and Liam will come to the park to fly a kite. Unfortunately, Felicity appears earlier in the day to tell her that she and Will are splitting up and he's on his way to meet her to try to get Tess back. By the time she lets Connor know that they can't meet him, he's already at the park. Cecilia, John-Paul and the girls are also there on their bikes and Polly spots Connor, one of her favorite teachers, and races to catch him before he heads off. Unfortunately Good Friday is also the anniversary of Janie's death. Rachel has spent the morning with Rob and Lauren visiting the grave site before getting the police call that they are not reopening the case due to her new evidence as it wasn't substantial enough. All of those things pieced together lead to Rachel seeing Connor—the man she believes killed her daughter—about to walk into traffic and blinded with rage, she hits the accelerator and hits...Polly who is trying to get Connor's attention. Polly is rushed to the hospital, where she is in critical condition. She ends up having to lose her right arm below the elbow because it couldn't be salvaged. Rachel is there too getting checked up and she goes to try to apologize to Cecilia and explains that she was enraged seeing Connor because he killed her daughter. At that moment, Cecilia confesses that it was actually John-Paul who had done it. And then the world was right and everyone got on with their lives. Verdict: 3.5 stars The book was fine. It had some ups and downs. The whole underlying premise though that this stupid boy murdered a girl who wasn't even dating him because she nervous giggled at him. It makes me want to kill him. She died. His daughter only lost an arm. It's not the same. I thought the prose itself was good so that helped a little, but all in all the story felt a bit like it was trying to prove a point then be realistic. The Husband's Secret The front cover of the first edition (hardcover)AuthorLiane MoriartyCountryAustraliaLanguageEnglishGenreThrillerPublisher Berkley Books[1] Putnam/Amy Einhorn[2] Publication date30 July 2013[2]Media typePrint (hardback and paperback), e-book, audiobook[2]Pages396ISBN9780399159343Preceded byThe Hypnotist's Love Story Followed byBig Little Lies The Husband's Secret is a novel by Liane Moriarty that was first published on 30 July 2013. The novel tells the story of three women, whose lives unexpectedly interconnect after one of them discovers a devastating secret.[3] Synopsis The novel is set in Sydney, Australia, where Cecilia Fitzpatrick is a happily married mother-of-three who leads a seemingly perfect life. Meanwhile, Tess O'Leary is a career woman who returns to Sydney with her son after her husband, Will, confesses that he is in love with her cousin and best friend, Felicity. Tess' son and Cecilia's children are enrolled in the same school, where Tess' ex-boyfriend, Connor Whitby, is a PE teacher. Rachel Crowley, the school secretary, suspects that Connor is the man responsible for the unsolved murder of her daughter that still haunts her almost three decades later.[2] Then one day, when Cecilia's husband John-Paul is away, she finds a letter from her husband to be opened only in the event of his death. Cecilia opens the letter anyway, and the devastating secret she discovers has massive consequences for her and the other women.[1][2] Reception The novel was well received.[4] Entertainment Weekly's Leah Greenblatt gave the novel an "A-" rating, describing it as "a sharp, thoughtful read".[5] Publishers Weekly concluded that, "Simultaneously a page-turner and a book one has to put down occasionally to think about and absorb, Moriarty's novel challenges the reader as well as her characters, but in the best possible way." [2] USA Today's Patty Rhule gave the novel three-and-a-half stars out of four, noting that Moriarty "avoids an unfortunate trend in women's fiction to make men bad guys or doofuses. The men in The Husband's Secret are fully realized, thoughtful and caring, as flawed and faithful as the women who love them." [6] Writing for The Guardian, author Sophie Hannah selected the novel as one of her "top 10 pageturners", adding that "it's a perfectly paced mystery with a beautiful solution and a breathtakingly twisty final chapter." [7] The novel made both The New York Times [3] and the USA Today [6] Best Seller lists. Adaptation In September 2013, CBS Films acquired the rights to the novel.[3] In May 2017, it was announced that the film will star Blake Lively.[8][9] In February 2022, Kat Coiro was announced as director of the film, with Sony Pictures distributing.[10] References ^ a b "The Husband's Secret (official publisher's page)".
